

HUNGARIAN FLYERS START FLIGHT

GERMANY'S ECONOMIC PLIGHT IS ALARMING; BANKRUPTCY MENACES

Radical Ascendancy Is Seen; Bank Closing Causes Panic

BASLE, Switzerland, July 13.—Dr. Hans Luther, president of the German Reichsbank, arrived here from Berlin by airplane at 3:40 p. m. today (10:40 a. m. E. D. T.) to participate in the efforts of the bank for international settlements to save his country from economic ruin. Dr. Luther proceeded immediately to the headquarters of the bank, where the other directors had assembled several hours earlier.

BERLIN, July 13.—The double spectre of bankruptcy and bolshevism hovered over Germany today as desperate efforts were made by statesmen and bankers of the world to solve this country's alarming financial crisis.

From one end of the country to the other, Germany was in the midst of a veritable economic war panic. The closing of the Darmstadt and Nationalbank, one of the country's three largest banking institutions, and the shutdown of the Prussian exchanges combined to alarm the public to an unparalleled degree despite the fact the government has promised full guarantees to depositors in the closed bank.

Traveling across the country over the week-end, this correspondent frequently heard expressions from the public tending to confirm the threat of radical ascendancy in Germany unless the present crisis is swiftly alleviated.

The attitude of many persons seemed to be that if the world falls in its efforts to help Germany or if France persists in what Germans consider their "political humiliation," bolshevism will swamp this country. There were some who added the sinister comment that the Red march "will not halt at the Rhine."

In Berlin, as well as in many other cities of Germany, crowds gathered in the streets in front of newspaper offices to snatch the latest news bulletins, while hundreds of depositors jammed the banks.

Frantic scenes occurred at several branches of the Dresdener Bank following announcement by the directors that only ten per cent of total deposits would be paid out, the maximum withdrawal in any case being 3,000 marks ($50). Hundreds of persons jammed the bank's premises shouting: "The big ones got their money all right! We want ours too!"

A number of other large banks followed the lead of the Dresdener bank and announced they would pay out only up to ten per cent of amounts on deposit.

At other banks, where no such announcement was made, long lines of depositors gathered before the opening time to withdraw their funds. The crush was so great that many had to wait hours before receiving their money.

The government's financial position was further aggravated by an unexpected run on postal savings deposits. Many persons liquidated their deposits in this "rock-ribbed" institution in order to obtain ready cash.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning convoked his weary cabinet in permanent session as a "war council." Directors of the country's largest banks also met in permanent session, but despite their strenuous efforts, the crisis continued. Schwarz and Goldschmidt and Hammerstein Brothers, two private banking institutions affiliated with the Danat (Darmstadt and Nationalbank) closed their doors this morning.

It was generally agreed in well-informed circles that German safety depends upon the government's ability to prevent radicals from provoking disorders. This in turn hinges upon the government's ability to continue payment of the unemployment dole.

From the German point of view, the present situation is blamed upon the "golden bullets" of France. German authorities are firm in their belief that France's withdrawal of financial support is directly traceable to that country's desire to compel Germany to drop its projected customs union with Austria as well as to scrap plans for construction of two "vest-pocket" battalions of the deutch-land type.

While the general public awaited with interest the results of the deliberations of the bank for international settlements at Basle, the government appointed a commissioner entrusted with the task of straightening out the affairs of the Danat Bank.

Jakob Goldschmidt, head of the closed institution, issued a statement declaring he hoped the bank would re-open soon "and resume its normal business."

ENGAGED AGAIN

Dorothy Mackall of the films positively assures her movie public that she really intends to marry Neil Miller, of Honolulu, this time. He has just returned to Los Angeles with her. They were to have been married last April but the engagement was called off at the last moment.

AUTOIST KILLED IN FALL FROM MACHINE CHASING MOTORIST

Hit-Skip Accident Precipitates Fight Along Highway

COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—A thrilling story of a speedy chase up and down country highways, following a minor automobile accident that led to a severe quarrel, today sent police off on a hunt for a hit-skip driver whom they blamed for the death of Alex Rose, 32.

Rose was killed when he fell from the radiator of a coupe that was pursuing the hit-skip autoist, according to police.

After the other driver had crowded his own car into a ditch, Rose halted a passing coupe and jumped astride the radiator to direct the pursuit, it was said. Suddenly losing his balance, he fell to the road and suffered a fractured skull.

The chase began when the unidentified driver offered to fight after a minor accident here, police said. Rose, it was understood, offered to pay for the damage, but the other driver refused and started pursuing Rose's car.

During the chase, Albert Geyer, 30, a friend of Rose, leaped from Rose's car to the running board of the other machine, and was pushed to the road, suffering severe cuts and bruises.

BROKEN BAT HITS YOUTH ON HEAD

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Suffering from a fractured skull which he received when he was struck in the head with the broken end of a baseball bat, ten-year-old George Luther today was reported in a serious condition in St. Luke's Hospital.

Witnesses said a batter hit a pitched ball, breaking the bat. One end is said to have flown nearly twenty feet down the first base line and struck the boy in the head.

POLITICIAN'S HOME TARGET OF BOMBERS

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—A personal investigation was started here today by Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren into the bombing last Thursday of the home of Thomas J. Conley, McKees Rocks politician.

Conley has charged that the bombing was a political reprisal for his activities in the independent movement against the political machine of Miles Bryan, described as the political overlord of McKees Rocks.

OVERCROWDED PRISON CAMPS ARE ADMITTED

Justice Department Says Chillicothe Is Only Example

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Overcrowding of federal prison camps, established to relieve the load on already congested federal prisons, has brought new worries to the department of Justice.

Officials today admitted conditions at Chillicothe, Ohio, criticized severely by the Wickersham law enforcement commission, obtain to some degree in other places where temporary barracks are maintained.

With the advent of prohibition and increase in other crimes the population of federal prisons rose steadily for years, and finally congress approved a $7,000,000 expansion program. Even this program, it was admitted, would not solve the situation.

To provide relief while new prisons are being built, the prison bureau of the justice department established prison camps in old World War army camps, including Camp Lee, Va., Camp Bragg, N. C., Camp Meade, Md., and Camp Wadsworth, N. Y.

Prisoners are housed in barracks used by soldiers during the World War. Because of the overcrowding of prisons, however, the justice department has been forced to double the capacity of some barracks. In some barracks forty-eight men are housed as compared to twenty-four during the World War.

The increase in capacity is accomplished by double-decking bunks. In its report on the child offender, issued last week, the Wickersham commission condemned old army barracks at Chillicothe, saying they are in poor repair, crowded, unsanitary and not fireproof.

"Some bunks are double-decked. There are no chairs in the dormitories; men must sit or lie on their beds at all times while in barracks," said the report.

The criticism of the commission, together with exposure of the payment of large sums of money by penitentiary prisoners seeking transfer to camps, has thrown them into the limelight, with the result that the justice department is fearful of more criticism.

Admitting the situation is unsatisfactory but defending the camps a justice department official said:

"Most of the buildings in prison camps are temporary. They are wooden structures, some of the type the Wickersham commission condemned."

"Only men who have good behavior records and are eligible to parole are sent to camps. The camps are crowded. In some buildings there are forty-eight men where the capacity originally was twenty-four. The report continued:

"There have been no epidemics and the health record is good. This is largely due to the rigid physical inspection and the fine medical branch of the prison division."

"Men sent to the camps are required to labor eight hours a day, grading roads and doing similar manual work. They are not allowed outside the camp, which is composed of abandoned enlisted men's quarters, at any time."

The department of justice has undertaken construction of the northeast penitentiary, a southwest reformatory and another institution in Missouri.

VALLEE, BRIDE TO SEPARATE IN FALL

ATLANTIC CITY, July 13.—Rudy Vallee, radio crooner, and his bride, the former Miss Fay Webb, whom he married last week, will separate next winter—but only for the winter, Rudy announced here today.

The separation will be on order of Mrs. Vallee's physicians who, after attending her during a case of pneumonia last year advised her to spend the next few winters in a mild, sunny climate. Mrs. Vallee will return to California while Rudy will continue his sojourn in New York, unable to escape his radio engagements.

Rudy made the announcement at this time, he said, to forestall any report next fall, when Mrs. Vallee boards the train for the coast, that their romance is blasted. The bride herself denied that she would re-enter the movies.

SHRINERS MAKE CLEVELAND A COLORFUL MECCA FOR MEETING

CLEVELAND, July 13.—turning this city into a liberal oasis of ancient Arabia, delegates to the 57th Annual Imperial council session of the Ancient Arabic Order, nobles of the Mystic Shrine, swarmed into Cleveland today, dressed in garb that represented every color of the rainbow.

While thousands of other delegates from every nook and corner of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba turned Cleveland's business district into a rollicking playground for themselves, Ohio Shriners took the spotlight of the convention program with the impressive all-Ohio ceremonial.

Although the ceremonial itself was closed to the public, a colorful parade of all Ohio delegations, arrayed in their brilliantly-hued regalia, preceded the affair.

Potentates of Ohio Temples at Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, Cincinnati, Akron and Cleveland were to lead the massive parade, four miles in length, each sitting astride an elephant. The entire membership of three circus zoos added to the dazzling spectacle.

Imperial potentate Esten A. Fletcher of Rochester, N. J., was escorted by his own damascene temple patrol, the only patrol from another state marching in the parade, which wended its way through the heart of the city from the Cleveland masonic temple to public auditorium.

Presenting a blaze of color in their oriental costumes of many hues, patrols of Ohio temples—Al Koran, Cleveland Hosts; Syrian of Cincinnati, Antioch of Dayton, Aladdin of Columbus, Zenobia of Toledo, and Tadmor of Akron—followed in line.

Five hundred novices from Ohio cities were to be initiated into the mysteries of the order at the ceremonial rituals. Potentates of the Ohio Shriners were to officiate at the service.

The Ohio ceremonial and parade constituted the entire official program for today. The first business session of the Imperial Council will be held Tuesday afternoon. Three applications for charters, from Madison, Wis., Topeka, Kan., and Vancouver, B. C., are among the matters scheduled to come before the council. No Charters have been issued for six years.

Chicago, officials believe, will be selected as the site for the 1932 convention.

MINE WORKERS AND SECRETARY CONFER

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America, headed by President John L. Lewis, were here today conferring with Secretary of Labor Dool and Secretary of Commerce Lamont, in an endeavor to find some solution for the many difficulties confronting the bituminous coal industry.

The operators, meeting last week with Dool and Lamont, were unable to agree upon any specific plan and President Hoover called the miners officials here.

The operators said they believed little could be accomplished at a conference participated in by operators and labor officials.

Officials of the labor department have long held one of the chief difficulties of the industry is overdevelopment.

"Too many mines and too many miners," they asserted, is causing the present troubles.

GOODYEAR BLIMP IS DESTROYED; PLANE CRASHES REPORTED

Two Pilots Killed As Plane Burns At Chicago

Airplane fatalities for the week-end in the middle west rose to nine today, and a checkup showed that six persons had suffered injuries in air mishaps.

Three persons were killed at Harrisonville, Mo., when a pleasure plane struck a tree and crashed to the ground in flames.

Two met death at Chicago Sunday and two were killed at Jonesboro, Ark. One was killed Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

The blimp, Mayflower, was destroyed in a storm at Kansas City, and its pilot critically burned.

Miss Laura Ingalls was forced down by bad weather at Waynoka, Okla. on her way to New York.

Frederick Seiler, Newark, N. J., was killed at South Bend when trying to set a new altitude record for light planes. In a plane weighing 39½ pounds, Seiler weighing 218, had ascended to 8,000 feet when the plane went into a series of spins.

Two men were killed and one badly injured in a crash at Lloydminster, Canada.

Two farm boys, George Colburn and Jake Thomas were the victims at Harrisonville, Mo., and two girls Elizabeth Osborn and Ruby Hinson were killed at Jonesboro.

Two veteran pilots crashed in flames at Chicago.

Richard Austin, 18, seriously injured in an airplane accident at Buffalo yesterday, died today in a Buffalo hospital.

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—The storm jinx that followed the Mayflower, an airship of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Akron, O., had caught up with it today and C. E. Brannigan, 35, Akron, its captain was critically burned and three others of the crew injured, while the dirigible itself was ruined.

The blimp was destroyed by fire when it touched a high tension wire while being buffeted in a storm. It was thought that fuel from broken gasoline tanks became ignited from the flash of the live wire.

The big bag was filled with non-inflammable gas.

When the windstorm started at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, the ship was moored at the airport after cruising over the city most of the day. It successfully rode out the first storm but a second blow whipped it against the wires. Brannigan (CQ) and R. H. Hohenack, second in command, and two other members of the crew hurtled to the ground, engulfed in flames. At the hospital, physicians said they doubted that Brannigan would recover. Roy Horton and Claud Hendershot, mechanics, were bruised when they jumped from the craft.

Three weeks ago the Mayflower encountered a severe storm in Chicago and was tossed about for a half hour.

CHICAGO, July 13.—Wreck of the plane that crashed and burned with two pilots in the flames was so complete that it was considered impossible today to assign a cause for the tragedy although three investigations were underway.

Chester R. Bailey, 32, Kansas City, piloting the new silver Lockheed-Vega monoplane, and his friend William R. Warren, 32, of San Antonio, pilot for the Century Airlines, were the two who died as flames leaped high into the air from the wing gasoline tanks.

The two aviators had just taken off for Detroit when spectators at the airport heard the motor sputter and cough. The airplane suddenly dived for the ground at a 150-mile an hour speed.

The big ship bore into the ground, tail in air, 50 feet from a street intersection.

The borrowed plane had completed its maiden round trip between here and Kansas city Saturday night with six passengers.

CHAMPAIGN COUNTY PROSECUTOR FACES BAR INVESTIGATION

Promised Immunity From Charge For Cash Is Charge

URBANA, O., July 13.—An investigation by the Champaign County Bar Association of charges of irregularities against Prosecutor W. M. Vance was contemplated here today as the outgrowth of court action started against the attorney for his alleged part in a recent divorce case.

Whether the bar association probe will be started, officials said, depends upon the hearing of a plea of abatement in the perjury case of Earl Andrews of Tiffin, scheduled for tomorrow.

In filing the plea for Andrews, Marion R. Owen, his attorney, said he has a letter written by Vance to Andrews asking a cash settlement of $2,500 for Mrs. Andrews, whom he represented, and calling attention to alleged perjury in Andrews' testimony.

Vance promised to have the action charging perjury dropped if the cash settlement was made, Owen said.

A bus was sent from Toledo to replace the damaged one, which was enroute to Detroit from Pittsburg.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Killed Grandmother Because She Wanted To Die Is Excuse

BRYAN, O., July 13.—Theodore Taylor, 27, killed his grandmother because "she wanted to die" or to make room in the home for a girl he wished to marry, was investigated by police today.

In a signed confession, according to authorities, Taylor admitted that he gave his 85-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Abbie Douglas, poison "because I heard her say she wanted to die and wanted someone to give her something that would make her pass away."

Police learned during their investigation that Taylor was in love with a girl who lived in the neighborhood. Her name was withheld by authorities.

First degree murder charges have been lodged against Taylor, with penalty for conviction death in the electric chair. Taylor pleaded not guilty to the charges Saturday.

While local authorities continued to pry into the background of the strange slaying, an analysis was being made in Columbus of chemicals found in the attic of Taylor's home. The chemicals, Taylor explained to police, were left by his brother, now dead, and were for use in mounting birds and animals.

Should poison be found in the chemicals, authorities here indicated that the body of Mrs. Douglas will be ordered exhumed.

Milton Berman, 20, a companion, also was arrested when he allegedly became threatening while trying to provide bail for Glick.

CLEVELAND, July 13.—Police today sought a young man who tossed a stench bomb into the main lobby of the Hotel Winton here, forcing more than a score of persons to the streets and slightly injuring Robert B. Keenan, 45, Carnegie, Pa., a visiting Shriner.

Keenan was cut on the face by flying glass from a broken window, police said he received treatment at the hotel. Labor trouble was the cause of the incident, police believed.

Goldschmidt admitted that withdrawal from his bank since June 1 totaled 1,500,000,000 marks, while the institution's present foreign debts were 460,000,000 marks.

Sharper credit restrictions for all German banks are expected to be decreed by the government. According to authoritative information here, any definite step by the international bank will await the arrival of Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, who left for the Swiss city by airplane shortly before noon.

The Flower Parade

CUTTING ROSES

By DR. KARL F. KELLERMAN
Bureau of Plant Industry
U. S. Department of Agriculture

ROSE blossoms should be cut with stems as long as possible. This not only gives a more attractive cut flower but leaves the bush in better condition to produce more flowers, horticulturists of the Bureau of Plant Industry find.

Two buds or eyes are enough to leave on the stub below the cut. If the stems are short—say, less than six inches long—it may be well to cut many of the blossoms all the way back to the main stem and not leave a stub.

Proper spring pruning has much to do with the length of stem that the blooms develop later in the season. Stems less than a foot long usually indicate that the bushes were not cut back enough in the spring.

Light spring pruning results in a mass of short-stemmed roses. The second crop is even less satisfactory. If most of the flowers are not used for cutting they should be clipped as they fade.

These suggestions for cutting are suitable for the flowers of climbing hybrid tea roses. The double flowered forms of the rambler roses usually grow with long stems that may be cut for indoor decoration in the same manner as bush roses. There will be no second crop of flowers, however, from the base of the stems.

The main stems of rambler may be cut, if long sprays are needed for decoration. This will not injure the plant. The shoots should be removed anyway when they are through flowering.

CRADLE SONG

SLEEP, sleep, beauty bright,
Dreaming in the joys of night;

Sleep, sleep; in thy sleep
Little sorrows sit and weep.

Sweet babe, in thy face
Soft desires I can trace,
Secret joys and secret smiles,
Little pretty infant wiles.

As thy softest limbs I feel
Smiles as of the morning steal
O'er thy cheek, and o'er thy breast
Where thy little heart doth rest.

O the cunning wiles that creep
In thy little heart asleep!
When thy little heart doth wake,
Then the dreadful night shall break.

One Of America's Richest Heiresses To Wed Again

By JOSEPH S. WARD, JR.

Central Press Correspondent

NEWPORT, R. I., July 13.—Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Church, one of the wealthiest heiresses in America, will soon make her second venture into marriage. Her engagement to Henry Delafield Phelps, a childhood sweetheart, was recently announced.

Her marriage to Frederick Cameron Church, Jr., Harvard's "Greek God" football star, ended in a divorce in 1929. The divorce marked the third generation of the immediate family to be thus separated. Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, maternal grandparents of Mrs. Church, were among the first persons in society to be divorced. Mrs. Vanderbilt later married Oliver H. P. Belmont. Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., parents of Mrs. Church, were divorced in 1927.

Attracted Wide Attention
The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Church attracted probably more attention in eastern society than any similar event in the past decade because of the bride's popularity in society. The couple were married with the service of the Episcopal church and later they were understood to have gone through a Roman Catholic service as well.

Church was not a great lover of society and he hardly ever appeared at a Newport party. On the other hand, Mrs. Church is devoted to social affairs, and she was active in many Newport enterprises. She had no acquaintances in Boston society and in 1927 she decided to live in Newport. Church had many Boston connections, and the couple drifted apart.

Mrs. Church's marriage to Phelps will mean that she will wed a scion of a prominent Newport family. Recently she has devoted herself chiefly to the care of prize-winning horses at her estate, "Dudley Place."

FINISH FIELD WORK FOR REAPPRAISAL

Preliminary field work in connection with the county-wide reappraisal of real estate is virtually complete, according to County Auditor, James J. Curlett, who disposes that only a few scattered lots in Bath Twp. remain to be appraised and the task will be finished this week.

Definite figures on the new and slightly lower land values will not be available, however, until the state tax commission passes upon the data the second Monday in September.

Merchants Take Overtime Tilt 5-4

ANKENEY HURLS AND BATS XENIA TO WIN AFTER TEN INNINGS

Thompson Printers Of Dayton Victims Of Local Triumph

Jasper Ankeney pitched and batted the Xenia Merchants to a 5 to 4 triumph over the hitherto unbeaten Thompson Printing Company of Dayton in a ten-inning engagement at the Washington Park yard Sunday afternoon.

Not satisfied with allowing only six scattered hits and striking out seven batters, Ankeney drove in the winning run in the last half of the tenth round with a single after Clark had walked and the pitcher had thrown two out when the winning run trickled across the platter.

The Merchants trailed most of the game. The visitors scored a run in the first inning on Bordy's single and a double by Cora, and added two more in the second when a triple by Flaharty was sandwiched in between three errors.

In the seventh Flaharty led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and third and scored on Bordy's one-bagger.

The Merchants tallied a run in the opening stanza when Lee Ruse reached first base on the only Dayton error of the contest and Blake followed with a three-bagger. Blake was left on third, however, as the succeeding three batters were retired. Three consecutive singles by Ankeney, Ruse and Blake produced two more markers in the fifth and the Merchants finally squared the count in the eighth on successive singles by Clark, Johnson and Joe Smittle.

Haines, pitching for the Thompson team, was nipped for twelve scattered hits and Ankeney got three hits apiece while Clark hit safely twice and stole two bases. Flaharty and Bordy each obtained two hits for Dayton.

What softball here needs is some big-hearted individual or organization willing to come from the front and lend financial assistance. There is probably not much danger of anything like that happening, however.

Wednesday evening, July 29 there will be a "hot time in the old town" at Paintersville, "Atlas" Smith and his Famous Auto softballers are making elaborate arrangements for a big night. The drawing card expected to attract the good people from miles around will be a softball double-header followed by one of those tempting lawn fests.

"Atlas" booked the Downtown Country Club softball team, present leaders of the National League, to oppose the Famous Auto team for which he pitches, but was not satisfied with this. In addition, arrangements are about complete for the Lang Chevrolet team to compete in the bargain attraction, engaging the Elks' Lodge team from Wilmington, leader of the Fraternal League there and considered the outstanding team in that city. This game would probably be played first with the Famous Auto-Downtown contest following. And then, last but by no means least—the Lawn Fests, and those nicker chicken sandwiches which, they tell us, are incomparable.

The Chevrolets and the Red Wings are scheduled to play an important National League game on the Wednesday night in question, but Manager Bill Baxley believes an exchange of dates will solve the difficulty. The Graham Paints and Wood's Barbers booked to play Friday night that week would probably not object to staging their game on Wednesday evening enabling postponement of the Lang-Red Wing meeting until Friday.

CITY COMMISSION FIELD LIMITED TO SEVEN CANDIDATES

In the absence of any more petitions being submitted Saturday by the time the deadline hour for filing declarations of candidacy was reached at 6:30 p. m., the field of candidates for City Commission will number seven at the August 11 primary election.

Four candidates will be nominated for two of the commission seats at the primary. Three candidates will be eliminated from further consideration and the remaining quartet will battle it out at the November election.

The seven nominees whose names will appear on the ballots at the primary are Jacob Kany and I. S. Dines, present commissioners; Arthur Whalen, John Branner, Fred Sanger, Lawrence E. John and Elmer Owens, Jr.

The board of elections will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night toward contracts for printing poll books and approximately 4,300 ballots, according to Earl Short, clerk of the Board. The nominating petitions of the seven commission candidates will also be checked to ascertain the sufficiency of the signatures.

IDLE HOUR DEFEATS WARD'S CUBS; HOME RUN PROVES TIMELY

Joe Anderson Hits Circuit Blow As Bases Loaded

A timely home run by Shortstop Joe Anderson with the bases loaded in the third inning brought the undefeated Idle Hour Club's softball team a 5 to 2 triumph over Ward's Cubs, an outstanding Dayton team, Sunday night at the Maherry St. diamond. An overflow crowd estimated at 700 people witnessed the game.

Encountering the stiffest opposition they had been called upon to face this season, the Idle Hours were held to four hits by Rush, Dayton pitcher. A walk, two errors and the homer spelled the downfall of the visitors, however. Hargraves, Idle Hour hurler, parted with eight hits, one a circuit blow by Fuller with the sacks empty in the fifth.

The Idle Hours will play the Wilmington Elks' Lodge here Monday night. Lineups:

HAGEN AND ALLISS PLAY-OFF TUESDAY

TORONTO, July 13.—Walter Hagen, Detroit, ruled a favorite today to defeat Percy Alliss, British pro of Berlin, in the 36-hole playoff tomorrow for the Canadian golf open championship.

The 32-year-old British player battled through the rain in the fourth round Saturday to tie Hagen with a 282 score. Alliss played the last nine holes in 32 strokes, four under par, for a 71. He held an 18-foot putt for a birdie three on the home green to bring the tie.

Hagen faltered on the 15th and 16th holes.
Johnny Farrell of Mamoroneck, N. Y. just missed making it a triple tie, finishing with 283.
The Canadian title has never been won by a European and for some time American players have had a monopoly on it.

BIG BILL TILDEN OVERWHELMS RICHARDS TO CAPTURE PRO MEET

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 13.—William T. Tilden, World's professional tennis champion.

There were some who thought that Big Bill was being presumptuous when he thus signed his name as king of all the "Pros" for, after all, large William had never been officially crowned as world's champion.

But there are no doubters today. Not after that crushing 7-5, 6-2, 6-1 defeat Tilden handed Vinnie Richards before 5,000 spectators at Forest Hills yesterday, dethroning the 28-year-old Norwood Country Club "pro" as professional tennis champion of the United States.

The victory over Vinnie officially gives Big Bill only the American

"pro" laurels, but the field at Forest Hills included practically every well-known professional in the game, and Tilden's title is tantamount to a world's championship. There must have been more than one U. S. L. T. A. official in the West Side Tennis Club stadium who sighed sorrowfully while he watched Tilden hand Richards the pasting of his life, thinking of what do to Henri Cochet this month, if only the lucky Philadelphia were still a "lucky pure," and a member of America's Davis cup team.

There is no doubting that Big Bill right now, despite his bad leg, is playing better tennis than ever before in his life.

IMPORTANT GAMES WILL MARK THIS WEEK IN SOFTBALL LOOPS

Important softball engagements are down for decisions this week in the National and American loops.

The high spot of the National schedule is a double-header between the Downtowners and the Graham Paints Wednesday night. These two teams played a questionable game the last time out and the Paints, like elephants, have not forgotten.

Clinging precariously to a half game lead in the league, the Downtowners must win both games to retain the undisputed leadership. If they break even in the double bill, they will drop into a tie with the Lang Chevrolet for first place, and should they lose both games, they would be ousted from the lead altogether as Langs are expected to have easy sailing with the Criterion Friday night.

The Paints, a transformed ball team if there ever was one, have won four games in succession, while the Downtowners have a victory string of seven straight. One of the winning streaks, or perhaps both, will be snapped Wednesday night. The Red Wings and Wood's Barbers clash in the other National League conflict Monday night.

Undisputed possession of first place in the American League will be at stake when the All-Stars and the All-Stars meet for the fifth time this season Thursday night. These teams are tied for the league lead and the All-Stars, having lost four straight games to the defending

COUNTRY CLUB, TWO CHURCHES BENEFIT BY KINGSBURY WILL

Cash bequests of $1,000 each to the Xenia Country Club and Miss Clara L. O'Brien, bookkeeper at the Criterion clothing store, and $500 each to the First M. E. and Presbyterian Churches are provided in the will of Robert S. Kingsbury, banker and retired merchant, who died last week.

The will was admitted to probate Saturday and the estimated value of the estate disposed of was given as $510,000.
The Fifth-Third Union Trust Co., Cincinnati, was made executor and trustee of the residue of the estate after payment of cash legacies and disposition of other bequests.
Mr. Kingsbury, who was president of the Citizens National Bank at the time of his death, had also been an ardent golfer and at one time served as vice-president of the Xenia Country Club.

Under the terms of the will, business property at 22-26 St. Detroit St., occupied by the F. W. Woolworth 5 and 10-cent store and offices, and the residence on Sectional St., with its contents, are bequeathed outright to the daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Dorothy Kingsbury.

The business building at 28 St. Detroit St., the ground floor of which is occupied by the Criterion clothing store, is left in trust to the children of his son the late Robert H. Kingsbury. They will receive the income and the trust will be terminated and the title vested in them when the eldest is 35 years of age. Payment of life-time annuities of $600 each to the restator's two sisters and a brother is also provided in the document.

The daughters of the decedent are each to receive the income from one-third of the remainder, while the income from the other third part is to be paid in equal shares to the three children of Robert H. Kingsbury. When they become 35 years of age, the daughters and the grandchildren are to receive their shares of the principal in the proportion of one-third each to the daughters and one-third to the children of R. H. Kingsbury or their heirs.

Winters was notified of his release by Dr. B. O. Skinner, the new director of education who takes office Wednesday, succeeding Dr. John L. Clifton.
Information here was that Winters' post will be filled by either W. H. Webb of Marietta, superintendent of schools of Washington County, or Joseph Fichter, superintendent of Butler County schools. The post pays an annual salary of $6,000.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 13.—Accumulation of selling orders for the leading stocks over the week-end resulted in new declines of 1 to 3 1/2 points in a long list of the favorites today. German government bonds sank 5 to 12 points at the opening, chiefly in reflection of the unpopularity over the German political situation. The German Mark, which has been holding fairly steady around $23.70 cents dropped suddenly to 22.08 for a loss of nearly 2 cents to the mark. The par value is 23.82 cents.

GERMAN SITUATION HITS STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 13.—Germany's acute financial crisis was reflected in Wall Street today by a decline in the stock market, a sharp drop in German government bonds and a loss of nearly two cents in the German mark.

Not since the World War days have brokers and bankers in the New York financial district watched the European markets with the concentrated interest they are showing at present. The German situation was the principal topic of discussion in "the street" this morning.

Bonds that showed the biggest decline in the New York market at the outset today were those issued under the sponsorship of the present German government.

Men well informed on international financial conditions regard the New York stock market as a barometer with which to judge the progress being made in the working out of Germany's credit problem.

FATHER WINS POINT IN OLD LITIGATION

Appeal of Davis Little from a lower court decision denying his motion for modification of a decree pertaining to custody of his child has won for him a favorable ruling in the second district Court of Appeals adverse to his divorced wife, Doris Little Lucas.

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Go-way overruled Little's motion last April 10 and refused to entertain evidence in support of the motion on the ground the appellate court had previously made a definite decree awarding possession of the child to the mother. The Judge took the stand that as long as this entry is a matter of record in its present form, the lower court has no jurisdiction to modify it.

The appeals court decided, however, that the trial court should at least have heard evidence in support of the motion for modification of the order involving the child's custody.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press
The harassed railroads will not get their 15 per cent increase in freight rates, or any other increase if farm opinion has much say about it.

The application of the rail men to the interstate commerce commission was followed promptly by a chorus of protests from organized farming, and this will undoubtedly continue until the matter is settled one way or the other. The answer the commission made was to ask the railroads to state just what increases they wanted, and on what commodities. And of course it might be that the roads would refrain from asking increases on farm products, and put them only on other commodities, such as coal, ore and manufactured goods.

Agriculture has been critical of the railroads for the last fifty years or more, and every increase in freight rates, such as those following the World War, went into effect over the bitter opposition of farming. Even with the present level of railroad freights, many sections of the country feel themselves discriminated against and injured by the railroads, and proposed further increases are calculated to make these sections froth at the mouth.

If freight rates are always paid by the farmer, as the general belief is, there is good reason for frothiness. Yet it is by no means certain that this is the case. In all other commodities the reverse is true: the freight or other transportation is a part of the cost, is added in with the other costs to make the selling price, and normally is therefore paid by the consumer. It is different with farm products, and if so, why?

The truth appears to be, if we can believe our economists, that the freight rates on farm products is sometimes paid by the farmer, and sometimes divided between them. The fact that the farmer actually does the physical handling over of money to the railroad, makes it look as if he always paid the freight. But this is sometimes more apparent than real.

The true principle appears to be that if an increase in freight rates does not reduce the amount of farm products reaching the markets, and prices remain the same, then the farmer pays the increase. If, however, an increase in rates reduces shipments then prices will advance and in effect the consumer then pays the freight increase in the higher price.

However, these economic analyses are possibly a little too deep for the average citizen, and it is fairly certain that agriculture will continue to oppose increases in freights, on general principles, no matter who really pays them.

Bob Adair's Orchestra On Air From Shreveport

By MILDRED MASON
BOB ADAIR, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Adair, N. Galloway St., is director of an eleven-piece orchestra, composed of students of the University of Wisconsin, which opened an engagement at the Washington-Yorke Hotel, Shreveport, La., Saturday evening. The orchestra is to broadcast every noon during the luncheon hour and every evening from 9 until 11 o'clock. It has not been learned definitely through what station the program will be heard. It will not, however, be heard through station KWKH, operated by W. K. Henderson. It is thought that possibly the program will be broadcast over station KTBS, which operates on 1450 kilocycles.

The orchestra has just concluded an engagement of four nights at the Plamor Ball Room, Kansas City, and broadcast from there.

Enact Historical Scenes
Paul Revere's famous ride and the Battle of Lexington, historical highlights of the Revolution, will be reenacted during the Nash Parade of Progress to be broadcast over an NBC network Tuesday evening. The program will be heard over station WSAI, Cincinnati, at 8 o'clock.

Quartet On Program
"Iceland Jamboree," a new summer program heard over WLW, Cincinnati, every Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock, will present on its program this week: "Shine," "Please Don't Talk About Me," and "Ding Dong Daddy From Dumas," by the Mills Brothers quartet and "Moan You Monner," "Okeh Baby" and "You Don't Know What You're Doing" by a dance orchestra.

Ogden Mills On Air
Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, will interpret President Hoover's one-year war debt moratorium proposal in a talk over the Columbia network Tuesday from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m. Mr. Mills will be interviewed by Frederic William Wile, political analyst, on the most important phases of the proposal. Stations through which the program will be heard are not listed.

The Old Maestro
Ben Bernie, who is heard quite frequently in programs over both the NBC and Columbia networks, is beginning to suspect that many of the radio fans are using defective receiving sets. Despite the fact he is announced as the "Old Maestro," a week never passes without the receipt of a score of fan letters addressed—"Dear Old Microbe."

The Mysterious Young Man

By LOUISE GERARD

READ THIS FIRST:

Ann Carmichael, daughter of an English professor, falls in love with a young American millionaire, Roy T. Burney, after saving his life when a gang of blackmailers attack him. He gives her the position as his bodyguard. Burney, who has been paying marked attentions to Lady Moorling, middle-aged but beautiful, is unaware of Ann's feelings for him but is madly in love with her himself. His attentions to Lady Moorling are evidently in connection with the blackmailing activities of a family named Lamovits but this he does not reveal to Ann. In an effort to trace Lee Lawson, alias De Ath, who apparently holds the key to the mystery, Ann and Roy travel from London to Hongkong where they await news from a Chinese friend of Ann's who discovers De Ath has been in Peking. The Lamovits have been trailing Burney. Roy is jealous of Ann's Chinese friend because of the friendly way in which she speaks of him and the impersonal way in which he, Roy, is treated. Ann consistently avoids him when he receives a wireless message from her in which appear endearing terms, they quarrel, each one keeping the real reason for the angry words a secret. The climax of the quarrel comes when Burney appears in Ann's cabin intoxicated.

After more angry words she finally gets rid of him and the next morning they agree to go on as friends. Within the heart of each, however, jealousy smoulders. At Peking they find a message from Dr. Cho Bem Ling, Ann's friend, saying that he is on De Ath's trail. Then, after a day, he appears as they are eating dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 29
COMING TOWARDS her table was a tall, handsome man in the early thirties, with thick longish, black hair brushed straight back from his forehead and a pale olive skin. He was in correct European evening clothes and his Tartar origin showed only in his high cheek bones and black almond-shaped eyes.

They met with outstretched hands and smiling lips. "Well, little Ann," "So you're here at last." "My dear, you know I wouldn't fail you. Neither I nor my sons for ever."

The Theater

This column attempted, in a moment of mental aberration, to discourse recently on the evident lack of judgment of Paramount in naming an otherwise harmless picture "Forbidden Adventure" in order to give it a sexy tang considered so indispensable to the box office.

Now the current movie guide of the Daughters of the American Revolution, supplies the information lacking in the previous notice. The film is from the novel, "Let's Play King" by Sinclair Lewis which, if memory serves, was published serially in Cosmopolitan recently.

It was directed by Norman Taurog and features Mitz Green, Jackie Searle, Bruce Line, Edna May and Eleanor Boardman; "Sweepstakes", Radio-Pathe, in which James Gleason, Eddie Quillan and Lew Cody play; "I Take the Woman," from a story by Mary Roberts Rinehart, in which Paramount cast Gary Cooper and Carol Lombard; "Transgression", Radio film featuring Kay Francis and Paul Cavanaugh; "Everything's Rosie," a Radio Bob Woolsey vehicle; "Vice Squad", a Paramount police expose; "Always Goodbye", a Fox story with Elissa Landi, Lewis Stone and Beryl Mercer in the cast; "Sky Raiders," a Columbia thriller; "Tip for Murder," a Universal featuring Lew Ayres and Genevieve Tobin.

The guide does not like George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton", because the story is based on a romance in the life of the great U. S. secretary of the treasury.

CROSS-EYED CONFESSIONS

By JOHN P.
MEDBURY

to tell me that Basil had sent this wonderful floral offering.

I continued to live on the farm, but 35 years later, sold it and started to drive to California, where I could buy an orange grove. I was over 50 years old now and oranges were much easier to lift than watermelons.

The first mistake on my trip to California was to attempt the drive in an old automobile. I didn't have any trouble, though, until I reached the desert, about 300 miles east of Los Angeles.

After checking over the car carefully, I discovered that thousands of sand fleas had gotten into the gas tank and plugged up the feed line. There were so many of these little insects that they had absorbed all the gasoline and left me stranded in the middle of the desert with no fuel.

I started to walk to the nearest town (72 miles away), but the sand was so hot it burned my feet and I returned to the car to wait for help, but no help came.

In three days my food supply was exhausted and in another day, my last drop of water was gone. I now realized that I would be left here on the desert to die of thirst. If I could only find some water, I thought, I would be all right.

This thought had no sooner flashed through my mind, than a beautiful big limousine drove up alongside of me and who should step out but Basil, the man we had fired from our farm for being a thief.

"Edith," he said, "for years I've been trying to find you and at last I've succeeded!" Basil, the wonderful man that he is, could see that I was dying from thirst. He took me into his arms, and in a sobbing voice, made one of the most remarkable confessions that I have ever heard.

Basil's Confession

"You and your grandfather fired me 35 years ago for stealing watermelons, and although I stoutly denied it at the time, I must confess now that I did take a couple of them!" He had no sooner said this than he reached into the limousine and handed me two watermelons. A few seconds later he hopped back into the car and drove away.

These watermelons saved my life, as they contained enough water to quench my thirst and keep me alive until help finally came. I will always worship Basil for his marvelous strength in having enough courage to break down and confess his crime and his decency in returning the watermelons which he had stolen 35 years ago.

If Basil reads this I hope he will communicate with me, in care of this paper, so that I can personally convey my thanks to him and present him with a lovely jar of preserves that I made from the watermelon rinds.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED HERE BASED ON AUTO ACCIDENT IN 1929

Suit for $6,351 damages, based on personal injuries claimed to have been sustained when he was struck by the defendant's auto July 15, 1929, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Francis A. Klein, Xenia ice dealer, against Kenneth Fulkerson, Cincinnati Pike.

The accident occurred on E. Second St., between Detroit and Whitman Sts. Klein sets forth he had stopped his ice wagon along the south curb, had just removed a piece of ice and was standing directly behind the wagon when Fulkerson, driving west, attempted to pass on the left of another auto traveling in the same direction.

Charging the defendant with negligence, Klein asserts he was knocked violently to the pavement by Fulkerson's machine, was unconscious for two hours, suffered brain concussion, painful bruises and lacerations over the body and a severe shock to his entire nervous system from which he has never recovered.

Declaring he was confined to his home for seven weeks under the care of a physician and nurse and that he still suffers constant pain and severe headaches, Klein claims he was compelled to discontinue his ice business at a time in mid-summer when the business was most profitable.

The plaintiff claims he suffered a direct financial loss of $1,188 through inability to distribute ice to customers. He also seeks to recover $163 for expense of medical and nursing services incurred and $5,000 for personal injuries. Attorney Marcus Shoup represents Klein.

The biennial budget for the O. S. and S. O. Home here suffered minor additional cuts when sundry items were vetoed by Governor George White before filing the big Ohio 1931-32 budget with the secretary of state. Salaries of five cottage supervisors at the state institution in this city were eliminated for next year.
